GOSSIP OF THE RUNNERS.

MR. PIERRE LORILLARD LOOKING FOR ENGLISH QUARTERS.

Me Will Spend the Winter South and Will Race Abroad Next Season-How Pontine was Bought Everybody Singing the Praises of Domino and Henry of Navarre The Programme for the Final Week at Gravenend - Eligible Storters for the Marcon Stakes at Morris Park - Today's Entries at Gravesend and Maspeth,

It is Mr. Pierre Lorillar.l's Intention to race almost exclusively in England for the next few wases. To friends some days ago be approunted that he would spend the early part of the com ing winter in Florida and vicinity on his magnificent house boat Calman, and would go to the south of France some time in March, and from there to England, in order to be on hand for the first of the racing season.

Mr. Lorillard has made extensive nominations in the Derby, St. Leger, the Guineas, Oaks, and other of the richest races decided abroad, and he is now on the lookout for training quarters. They must necessarily be private, as the master of Rancocas likes nothing better than springing a sleeper upon an unsuspecting public. Hed there been betting at Sheepshead Bay the day Pontiac won the Suburban the bookmakers would have been hard hit, as the black horse had been tried very highly at Rancocas, and the outside world knew nothing, or comparatively nothing, of his capabilities. Mr. Lorillard thought some of taking the late Abington Raird's quarters, but there was some hitch about the lease and the deal is now off. Of course John Huggins, Mr. Lorillard's skilful trainer, will go abroad and take charge of the foreign stable, recruits being forwarded from Rancocas from time to time. Mr. Lorillard is in the market now for first-class performers, and at Saratoga priced Lissak. There was some talk during the early part of the Gravesend meeting about his buying Flying Dutchman, but the big chestnut colt's last race was none too good, and must show higher form before a big figure will be pald for him. He is a very handsome toppy colt, and in the Prospect Handicap, with big weight up, he showed a great flight of speed for half a mile through the deep mud.

The purchase of Pontiac was a surprise to friends of Mr. Lorillard and Mr. Donner. It wasn't known that the black horse was in the market, and the two gentlemen were conversing in the club house at the race course one day about ten days ago when Mr. Donner remarked: I believe I'll sell my horse."

"What do you want for him !" asked Mr.

The sum is not mentioned by request. "I'll take him," was Mr. Lorillard's response, and without any more fuss the check was drawn up and the black horse returned to the home of his birth. He will be used as an outcross on the Mortemer mares. It can be stated that more than $10,000 was the figure.

It is not Mr. Duuoer's intention to retire from the ranks of breeders, for he is a most enthusiastic turfman, in fact, a scientist on the matter satic turfman, in fact, a scientist on the matter of racing and breeding. He has lines which he follows with mathematical precision, and he has in his mind always the type of race horse he wants to result from the union of stallion and mare. In his possession are valuable charts showing the blood lines in famous pedigrees, different colored links making the charts intelligible to even the nevice. The writer asked Mr. Donner on Saturday at Gravesend what he would do now that his favorite had been sold: "I guess I'll have to buy another," said the breeder of Ramapo and Redskin. "I've only git a few mares and I want to try another horse with them."

Turfmen were full of the magnificent race beweeder of Ramapo and Redakin. It we only with them."

Turfmen were full of the magnificent race between Domino and Henry of Navarre yesterday. Those who missed it had to be content with the stories in the morning newspapers, and when they read of the struggle all through the last hair mile they would not be among the missing. Dogett, who is an honest, conscientious rider, and enjoys the confidence of the public to a marked degree, felt hurt at some of the criticisms of his riding. He should not feel badly, for in Taral he had opposed to him a man riper in experience, a man many pounds heavier, and a finisher of the very highest order; in fact, there is no such punisher in the saddle as the Dutchman since Daredevil Fitzpatrick has ceased riding. It ley Grannan, who stood to win or lose a fortune on the race, was perfectly satisfied with the way Henry of Navarre was ridden. One thing must be explained. Doggett was blamed for letting Domino take the pole away from him in the first furlong, but in doing this he was merely following out the orders given to him before the race by Byron McCelland, who said: "If Domino wants to go to the front you let him."

Both colts covered themselves with glory, and everybody was sounding their praises yesterday. Domino's undying courage was never more strikingly illustrated, and in Henry of Navarre has was meeting one of his own kind. Let the strikingly illustrated, and in Henry of Navarraha was meeting one of his own kind. Let the scorfers of Domino's ability to stay go hide their heads in shame, for any horse that can finish as he did on Saturday can run four-mile heats. As for Navarre, he is only what well-informed turfmen have all along claimed for him a race horse of the rarest type, game, stout, and speedy, up to any weight and distance. It is to be hoped that both coits will try conclusions again in the near future, as such race horses as they are come only once in a lifetime. The Messrs, Keene are very proud of their champion, and they think he still can defeat Henry of Navarre. Byron McClelland has the highest respect for Domino, but, as he laughingly said after Saturday's races: "Ididn't beat him; and he didn't best me."

Domino, but, as he langhingly said after Saturday's races: 'Ididn't beat him; and he didn't beat me.'

The programme for Gravesend this week is a rich one, to-day's card furnishing some material for good sport. The Clinton Stakes for two-year-old fillies has filled well, and there are some clinking handicap horses in the Woodlawn Handicap, among them Banquet and Henry of Navarre. The last named will scarcely go to the post, as his race on Saturday with Domino was enough to entitle him to four or five days' rest. He is a glutton for work, however, and McClellandsays that he never misses a feed, and is always ready for his dinner. The Neptune stakes for two-year-olds is the feature of Tuesday's card, while on Wednesday the Greenfield stakes for two-year-olds at six furlongs will bring out such material as Rubleon, Figaro, Patrician, Hurlingham, Jack of Spales, Wernberg, Ben Lomond, and Buckrene. Borian is named in the stake book as being eligible, but racegoers will be sorry to learn that this sterling colt is under the weather, having taken cold in some unaccountable manner after his last race. The Willow Stakes, for two-year-old fillies at six furlongs, and the Brookwood Handicap, for three-year-olds at one mile and three-sixteenths, will be run on Thursday. All the cracks, including Domino, Henry of Navarre, Bobbins Patrician, John Cooper, and Lazzarone, are named for this race, but it would be too much good luck to have the owners of the beet ones accept Mr. Vosburgh's figures and send their horses to the post. Dobbins is down, too, but he pulled up lame on Saturday for the first time in his life. He prolably stepped on a stone, and will be all right again shortly.

The Canarsie Stakes, one mile and a furlong, for three-year-olds and upward will be decided on Fraiar, and the meeting will come to a close on Saturday, when the livily Handieap for two-year-olds at six furlongs and the Second Special for three-year-olds and upward at one mile and a furlong will bring the best of the horses in training together.

for three-year-olds and upward at one mile and a furiong will bring the best of the horses in training together.

The Matron Stakes to be run on the second day of the fall meeting at Morris Park is one of the richest stakes of the vear. Secretary Crickmore says there are 112 coits and fillies eligible to start. Among those that will probably go to the post are California, The Coon. Magian, Brandywine, Salvation, Waltzer, Cromwell, Manchester, Connoisseur, Sabilla, Agitator, Sir Galahad, Gennett Edwards, and Handspun.

The Naraganeset Racing Association of Providence is out with its back programme for a forty-one day meeting commencing Tuesday, Oct. 2. The meeting is under the license of the Jockey Club, and with J. F. Caldwell as starter, J. J. Hurke as presiding judge and handleapper, and L. N. Salmon as secretary, everything chould pass off smoothly. The purses will range from $400 to $500, with now and then a special event to which more money will be added.

THE VIRGINIA JOCKEY CLUB. Their Splendid Home Near Washington

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. Not since the time when Gov. Bowie, Col. Hancock, Col. Doswell, Pierre Lorillard, George Lorillard, John Hunter, the Dwyer Bros., D. D. Withers, and a host of other turfmen of the North and South, met here every year to race at the annual meetings of the Washington Jockey Club, has there been such a prospect for high-class sport in this section as that promised by the coming meeting of the Virginia Jockey Club, which begins on Oct.

18 and continues without intermission for a period of thirty-eight days. To-day a party of New Yorkers, in company with Secretary H. D. McIntyre of the Brooklyn Jockey Club and J. N. Kirk, both of whom are interested in the racing venture, visited the track and found the improvements in an ad-vanced stage of completion. The track is located at St. Asaph, a small suburb just across the Potomac River, and about fifteen minutes from Washington. It was formerly a half-mile trotting track, to which a charter had been granted by the State of Virginia. Last winter, when the Virginia Legislature passed the Mushback law, making it legal to race and bet on tracks to which charters had already been granted by the State, J. N. Kirk, Thomas F. Eagan, J. M. Hill of Alexandria, Va., and H. D. McIntyre secured a six years' lease of the property, and at once went to work to fit it up with all the appointments of a first-class running track. A new three-quarter-mile track has been built with a quarter-mile straightaway, so that mile races can be run with but two turns. The track is seventy feet wide, ad-away, so that mile races can be run with but two turns. The track is seventy feet wide, admirably graded at the turns, well drained on either side, and is now all but completed. The men are at work scraping, planing, and rolling it so as to make a hard and smooth foundation, and this coming week a top dressing of soil, with a slight admixture of sand, sufficient to make it light and apringy, will be added. The track construction and all the improvements are in the hands of experienced men. Philip Pawson, well known to racing men, is the track superintendent. There seems to be no doubt, if present plans are carried out, that the track will be nearly as fast and quite as safe as the track at Gravesend. It is very nearly as wide as the track at Gravesend. It is very nearly as wide as the track shed, a roomy structure, is already completed, and the frame of the grand stand is up and partly covered. The grand stand is 225 feet in length over all and will seat about 3,000 persons. A betting ring 163x10 feet will be directly under the grand stand. It will be enclosed in glass and will 2 furnish ample accommodations for from forty to fifty bookmakers. Special trains from Washington and Baitimore will land right in behind and not more than fifty yards from the grand stand. The Arlington Heights, the Potomac River, the Capitol, the monument, and other objects of interest are in plain view from the stand. A wide board walk will extend from the stand. A wide board walk will extend from the stand out to the track. Altogether the track, both in appointments and location, will be as handsome as the Linden Park track. Between the stand and the paddock will be the screary's office and jockeys' room, and at the other end of the grand stand a club house is to be built.

The stables are as roomy, as well laid out, and end of the grand stand a club house is to be built.

The stables are as roomy, as well laid out, and as well built as at any of the race tracks around New York. They occupy a naturally drained plot of ground, rectangular in shape, and some five or six acres in extent. The stables are patterned after those at Gravesend. They all have covered exercise walks. Already stalls for 400 horses have been completed, and by the time the meeting opens there will be accommodations for at least 400 more. The kitchens are built along one side of the rectangle. They are two stories in height, roomy, comfortable, and have perfect drainage. The water for track use is conducted by pipes from the Alexandria City water works.

have perfect drainage. The water for track use is conducted by pipes from the Alexandria City water works.

The President of the Virginia Jockey Club is E. E. Downham, Mayor of Alexandria; and Mr. Kirk is Treasurer and Mr. McIntyre Secretary. A license has been granted by the Jockey Club, and practically the same set of officials will conduct the sport that have had charge of the big meetings about New York. Mr. Rowe will be the starter, Messrs. Simmons and McDowell will be the the judges, and C. J. Fitagerald will be the clerk of the scales. All the prominent stables in the vicinity of New York have expressed their intention of taking part in the meeting. The Oneck Stable, Blemton Stable, Col. Ruppert, M. F. Dwyer, P. J. Dwyer, Manhattan Stable, the Messrs. Keene, McCafferty & Wishard will all be represented, so that the meeting will, in reality, be a continuation of just about the class of sport races of the second of the se else. So experienced and capable a judge as J. J. McCafferty expressed the opinion, after careful inspection to-day, that the track ought to be one of the safest and best in the country, McCafferty expects to winter his horses at St. Asaph.

SATURDAY'S RACES AT MASPETH. Manlove Pilote Frank R. Harf to Victory in

The racing on Saturday at Maspeth was the best of the meeting. Flattery and Frank R, Harf were the contending horses in the handloap, and the three year-old won rather handlo!. Flattery pulled up very lame. The track was in excellent shape. The club will refuse all entries of horses that have raced under the name of Alexander Shields, unless a long fide bill of sale, confirmed by the jorkey club, is produced. Summaries:

Tame Sport at Long Island City. The first day of the fall meeting of the Recreation Jockev Club, at Recreation Park, Long Island City, on Saturday can hardly be termed a success, only about Saturday can bardly be termed a success, only about 400 persons being present. The accommodation was very poor, and the promised good sport did not insterfalise. The field in three of the races had only two statters. Summaries:

TORONTO SOCIETY IN A FLUTTER

Over the Secret Marriage of Cricketer Joses to an Ontario Belle. Tononto, Sept. 16.-Until shortly before the nternational cricket team left for Philadelphia yesterday afternoon it was thought that William Wallace Jones, a leading young society man, barrister, and crack bat on the Canadian team, would play in the match in Philadelphia on Monday, but his resignation at the last moment was announced, together with his romantic marriage on the 3d of July last to Miss Marjorie Campbell, daughter of the late Sir Alexander Campbell, ex-Postmaster-General of Canada and a few years ago Lieutenant-Governor of Ontagio. The high social position of the two young people, the secrecy of the event, and the romantic nature of their engagement, young people, the secrecy of the event, and the very romantic nature of their engagement, which was of unusual length, makes the event of special interest.

The marriage was kept a profound secret until yesterday. The fact that Jones was in almost constant attendance on Miss Campbell did not excite any unusual comment, but Toronto society was yesterday surprised by a marriage notice in the usual form announcing that the couple had been married on July 11. Their marriage was arranged for over a year ago, even to the extent of furnishing a house, announcing that the prospective ceremony to friends, and the sending of wedding presents from England, where the young people were at the time. Then asciety was startled by a telegram announcing that the match had been broken off.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for Philadelphia on Friday afternoon to witness the big cricket match. It was understood until then among the players that he would be on the Canadian team, but he has voluntarily retired in favor of Henry, the crack Hamilton cricketer. He then gave no reusen for his withdrawal except that he considered Henry a better man than himself.

The Big Cricket Match To-day.

Everything is in readiness for the big cricket match, which will begin at noon to-day. The twelfth man to represent New York has not yet been selected, the choice being left to the committee, who will consult with F. G. Payne, the captain of the team, this morning. The Metropolitan Cricket Championship, The battle for the cricket championship of New fork is almost over, and nothing can now prevent the New Jersey A. C. from duplicating their performance of last year. In the second section New York and Harlem are practically tied, and an extra contest will have to be played to decide the leader. T. S. Jevons still leads in the averages with P. J. Prendergast close up. The records:

Teutonic Stewards on a Frolic.

The stewards of the White Star steamer Teutonic had a rare day's sport at their annual outing on Sat-urday. Members and guests gathered on the dock at 9 o'clock and sailed round to Oak Point in a specia steamer. The club's cricket cracks showed Spartar fortitude in face of the liquid and solid good thing available. They expected to have a hot match with the Campania eleven, but the latter were booked for a game in Central Park and disappointed their fellow-mariners. The cricket fever, however, had taken such a strong hold of the party that plenty of volum such a strong hold of the party that pleaty or volun-teers were forthcoming to take the missing team's place and a spirited match resulted. The opposing sides were so equal in merit that the verdict after two hours' play was a draw. A general more was then made to the water front where a couple of interesting boat races were arranged. E. Maicolin won the single gig race by a narrow margin from 0. Harrison. J. Christian finished a close third. The ladies' gig race resulted in favor of Miss L. Cooke with Miss Galligan second.

resulted in favor of Miss I. Cooks with an examination second.

An unexpected treat was furnished by Matthew Aird, the swimming champion, who holds the first prize presented to the Knatish Life Saving Association by J. Harrans, M. P. Aird is now a steward on the Teutonic, and he volunteered to show his mates and their friends a little of what he can do in the water. Mounting the steamer's paddie wheel he turned a series of fantasite someraulis into the Sound, coming up each time exactly where he disappeared, but with his feet first. A variety of other tricks kept the ontookers highly enterstained for some time, after which he struck out sgalast the current and covered about a mile and a half af racing parts. pace.

A football match and other impromptu outdoor games whited away the time pleasantly until sunset, when the party awopsed down on the dancing pavilion and wound up the festival in jolly style.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 .- The last game of the season between Brooklyn and Chicago took place to-day before 6,017 persons. It was a game full of brilliant plays, particularly by the home team. Brooklyn was outplayed at every point. Griffith pitched for Chicago and Stein for Brooklyn. The home team found Stein's delivery easy, while the young Chicago pitcher put up a spiendid game and had the ball under fine con-trol. A sensational incident made it necessary to suspend play for several minutes in the first inning. Wilmot had reached first base, but was forced out at second by Anson's hit. Corcoran was anxious to make a double play, and threw the ball with terrific force to Lachance to catch Anson. The "old man" accidentally got his head in the wav of the ball and received a blow that nearly rendered him unconscious. The ball cut a bad gash two inches long on his forehead, and it was at first feared that he had been seriously injured, but he soon recovered, and was able to finish the game.

Brooklyn's players were feeble at the bat, only three men. Daly, Shindle, and Anderson going to bat in the second inning. In the fifth, forcoran, Daly, and Lachance executed a pretty double play. Decker was the star player of the day, making in five times at the bat four hits, two of them home runs, one a triple and one a two bagger. The score: Corcoran was anxious to make a double play.

Cossip of the Courts.

An English party, under excert of their countryman, John E. Westlake, visited the Jersey City court on club day. They were favorably impressed by the arrangements and taked about making a match for some date in the near future. some date in the near future.

John J. Murphy of the Jersey City Handball Club has returned from Ireland. During his two months' vacation he visited the leading old country courts and kept in constant practice. He says the game is steadily growing in favor with the rising generation there. Many members of the Brooklyn Handball Club took part in the annual outing of the James Dunne Association last Tuesday. The affair was a big success in every respect, and all concerned thoroughly enjoyed themselves at Whitestone, as well as on the trip there and back.

The controversy over the Irish championship has about run its course, and the editor of Dubits Sport, who holds the stakes, has ordered the rivals to play off the rubber at Kikenny without further quibbling or take down their money. Pitagerald has all along expressed his willingness to play at any place or time, but Noian of Carlow has been creating fresh obstacles as fast as the old once were removed. Each has won five games, and eleven remain to be played. OARSMEN ON THE HARLEM.

Ellis Ward Remembered by the First Behemian Boat Club, The members of the First Bohemian Boat Club held a special open meeting at their club house on the Harlem River yesterday and their rainer, Ellis F. Ward, received a set of resolutions thanking him for his faithful work during the past season. The resolutions were made by Emile J. Figerie, one of the club's members, and are in a handsome cream and gold frame. Treasurer Al Maronsek made the prestaken the men in hand the club had been unable entation speech, stating that, until Ward had taken the men in hand the club had been unable to win a race, but during the past season they made a name for themselves and succeeded in bringing the senior eight-cared shell championship to the Harlem Hiver. Ward accepted the resolutions with a nest speech. He also received a framed picture of the crew. A collation was served afterward.

Sam Loewy of the Wyanoke Boat Club, who has organized a branch of the Volunteer Life Saving Corps among the members of the club, gave a practice exhibition yesterday morning with his crew of how lives are saved. The following six-cared barge crew with lady passengers went to Brooklyn to attend the regards of the Seawanhaka Boat Club; Ridley, bow; Goennell, 2; Hecht, 3; Loudon, 4; Kelly, 5; Sam Loewy, stroke, and Shannon, corswain.

Trainer John Fitzpatrick, who has been training Southern crews for the past two years, was seen on the river during the morning in his shell. He says he has lessed the gymnasium of the Manhattan Athletic Club for the winter, where he will prepare crews for next season's racing.

Jim Curtin of the Metropolitan Rowing Club will give to the club a new barge next season. He is at present receiving estimates as to the cost from various well-known builders.

The Atalanta Boat Club members were busy training for the single-gig event to be rowed next Saturday for Capt, Dempsey's trophy. They will also have what the members term "a day's sport."
